Dear Howard,

Got your letter of 3/9/76 this morning. Sorry about the foul-up with Hunter lecture. But we look forward to seeing you in April. And I do hope you get the supports fits matter cleared up.

Your friend is right. It will be cheaper to stay with him and cab than to stay at even the cheapest of the hotels we found for you. I hope all works out.

I'm glad that you were lucky with the storm wind direction. But by now, of your weather progression watch, some of ours the snows have gone into the endless row of yesterdays and is no longer a problem. And good luck with your vascular specialist.

Freda is still unhappy. The east is less galling. But she has discovered through pain - new areas of bruise suffered when she fell - the left lower rib area and the shoulder. But they are all healing through all 180 days. And it looks like the cast will come off in a week and a half - a week from next Wednesday. And then we'll be free to resume our usual gallivanting. Then - or even sooner - she'll go back to work at her nursing school learning center - library.

I'll talk to Al & Gerda over this weekend. I'll see them (Freda probably won't be able to make it) this coming Tuesday when we go to the Philharmonic for our joint subscription. And we'll arrange a get together with you.

I look forward to hearing from you as does Freida. As for Wells books - I think the last thing to seek examination of in your case does it matter than I could. I suppose you might ask to examine salesmen's commission payments & how they were computed through that is somewhat peripheral. And, pending the possibility of suit, I would not let them know what evidence you have as to their fraud until they learn of it in the suit.

I am not a specialist in suits against publishers nor do I know how they keep their books or run their businesses in terms of collections, credits for non-sales, margin for the book-sellers, credits for advertising, etc. So I can't really be of help to you on this, no matter how much I would like to.

Love to Bel from Freda and me and the best of luck and happiness and health to both of you

Sincerely
Leo
